

Raphael Yamamoto

Poweruser

Profile

- 25 years old
- is finishing his masters thesis in CS
- streams minecraft on twitch in the evening to around 500 viewers
- knows everything about minecraft redstone, but can't cook spaghetti
- his father is korean, his mother is from Argentina
- doesn't consider MatLab a real programming language
- has a long distance relationship with a girl he met at an Apple Keynote

User Scenario

Rapha, as his friends call him, uses Discord to talk to the other players on their minecraft server. He has been streaming for 3 hours and made a decent amount of money through donations. Currently they are working on a big project, and they are trying to coordinate with 24 different people. He grabs an energy drink. It's a bit confusing with everyone in the same voice channel, even though people are all over the map.